Redington Natural Resource Conservation District

What is the Redington Natural Resource Conservation District (NRCD)?

The Redington Natural Resource Conservation District is one of 42 Natural Resource Conservation Districts (NRCDs) in Arizona. NRCDs are independent subdivisions of State government, organized under State Law and administered by the State Land Department.

The NRCD is a form of self-government whose purpose is to promote, coordinate and carry out activities that conserve soil, water and other natural resources. It is governed by five supervisors (local landowners), three elected by the cooperators, and two appointed by the State Land Commissioner, who serve without pay. The District Board of Supervisors has the responsibility of determining the natural resource conservation needs, and for developing and coordinating an annual plan of operations, and a long-range program addressing those needs. Membership of the District is comprised of landowners who sign up as cooperators. Participation is strictly voluntary.

The Natural Resources Conservation Service (part of the USDA) provides technical assistance in planning and carrying out conservation practices on private and State Trust Land. The District also cooperates with other public and private entities: such as county governments, Arizona Game and Fish Dept., U.S. Forest Service, State Land Department, Bureau of Land Management, The Nature Conservancy, and the University of Arizona.

Sign-up contribution $25.00

A “one-time”, tax deductible contribution of $25.00 for farms and rangeland of any size, is requested with this application. Make checks payable to: Redington NRCD, and mail to P.O. Box 585 San Manuel, AZ 85631. None of the monies paid to the NRCD are to be construed as compensation for services received from any Federal, State, or Local Government employees, and that contributions cannot be accepted by any of these employees in our behalf. Furthermore, these contributions are not a condition to the receiving of personnel services, materials, or cost-sharing assistance from the Federal Government.
